Follies Go Red Hot and Blue

The Carroll Follies presented RED, HOT, AND BLUE in the 1975 production. Under the direction of James Bauserman, the Follies presented 18 acts displaying a variety of talents. Miss Evans and her art department provided the auditorium and stage decor. The annual event once again brought entertainment into the Carroll auditorium.

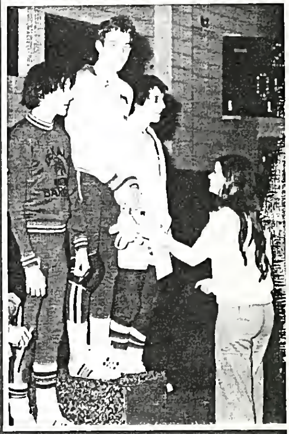
Wrestling Wins It All



The 1975-1976 Wrestling team completed its most successful season ever. Coaches Ed Fox and Gene Merkle saw their squad go undefeated through the Regionals!!

Miss Evans

This year saw Mr. Bauserman direct his last musical at Carroll High School. Faced by their most challenging effort to date, Mr. Bauserman, Drama director, and Mr. Matthew, Music director pooled together the outstanding talents of many students resulting in the impressive presentation of "My Fair Lady." The huge success of this well-known American classic, is indeed a crowning tribute to Mr. Bauserman's concluding effort.

Mini Course Day—April 13, 1976

On April 13, 1976 Carroll High was host to a wide variety of instructors. The routine classes were transformed into a unique type of education; the purpose—Mini Course Day.

The many subjects included a magic show, Hawaiian and Jazz dancing, square dancing, ping-pong exhibition, and criminology to name merely a few. Nuclear weapons, Revelations, Yoga, and a speaker from the Rape Crisis Center also highlighted the day.

Prom of '76 "Just You-N-Me"

With the creative efforts of the Junior Class and the romantic theme of the song "Just You-N-Me," the 1976 prom was a pleasing event.

Early Friday morning, May 21, the Seniors filled the Carroll commons for the last time. The Seniors final day began with the annual breakfast followed by the Awards Ceremony. Many students were recognized for their outstanding achievements during the school year. The morning ended, all too quickly, leaving only the farewells and the anxious awaiting of the graduation ceremony yet to come.

This page: Top Left, The happy trio of Dionne Exner, Jon McEntee and Cindy Dennison. Center Left: Cindy Shambaugh, Denise Alexander, and Rob Colcord read the Senior Prophecy. Graduation marks the conclusion of merely one phase of our education. We are all involved in a continuous process of learning which never ceases. As each day dawns, a valuable new lesson will be learned—with the world as our classroom and experience as our teacher. Now we are ready.

As the time grows near, feelings of relief, fear, joy, and sorrow creep into our drifting thoughts. Ideas of life's plan begin to focus as the dreams melt into reality, and the doors of the present converge with visions of the future.

Twelve years of education has crammed, pushed, thrown, forced and appears to have thoroughly confused the basic knowledge we should have. Yet the purpose has been accomplished and our first goal has finally been reached—We are ready to confront the world. The ability for success is ours; but only life can pass the final decision.

A slight bit of hesitation will be felt as we pass for the last time through the familiar halls, but it, with time, soon fades. Our memories are many, but they also will scatter through time. Faces blur that may never again be clear. Moments fade that will never again be lived. But by those left behind, we will be remembered—We will be missed.

A new world has been created. With it, a new school has opened its doors. We are now ready for our final lesson—Life will be our teacher, and the world, our school.

Journalism Department

This year the Journalism I classes doubled in number, requiring the three previous Publication II classes to be combined into one class. The Publication students were responsible for the printing of the Carroll Times, Senior paper, and yearbook.

For Journalism I, emphasis was not only placed on verbal communications, (spoken and written) but also non-verbal communications such as photography and lay-out design.

The Halls of Study

Once upon a time, there was an institution of "learning" named Carroll. This institution was ruled by the Baron, Von Cox and his two assistants, the Duke of Pfafman, "Minister of Attendance," and the Earl of Gorsuch, "Principal of Games."

Every day the students went from class to class without any manner of relief from the strain. Even the study hall* provided no respite.

One day the baron decided to revise the rules for the great "hall of study." The peasants were allowed to talk and play various games, such as chess, backgammon, quoits, and pinochle.

A few months later the baron chanced to enter the "great hall" and spied the uproarious peasants. "Forthooth," thaid he "my printhapality is topthy-turvy."

The baron conferred with his Minister of Attendance and Principal of Games. The decree was sent out that this air of festivity must cease. A resolution was made to curtail the frivolity.

The more advanced of the peasants grew in stature to such a degree that they were decreed competent to leave the institution. Their leave-taking was held with celebration and they all lived happily ever after.

*Footnote—The name "study hall" is rather misleading, because there is no field of study pertaining to "halls," nor is studying done in the hallways.

The Physical Education Department is led by Mrs. McAlexander and Mr. Moyer. All freshmen are required to take the course, while sophomores can take it as an elective.

Another year has now become merely a memory in our minds,
And with the ushering in of a new year
Also comes a time of sadness,
For each year that passes seems to be shorter
As I continually struggle for a foothold in time—
Only to find that the foothold does not exist.

Time moves at its own pace,
Always indifferent to those whose life passes by far too quickly;
We blindly try to stop this sudden parade of years
And, only after failing,
We discover the true feeling of how precious
Our own lifetime really is.

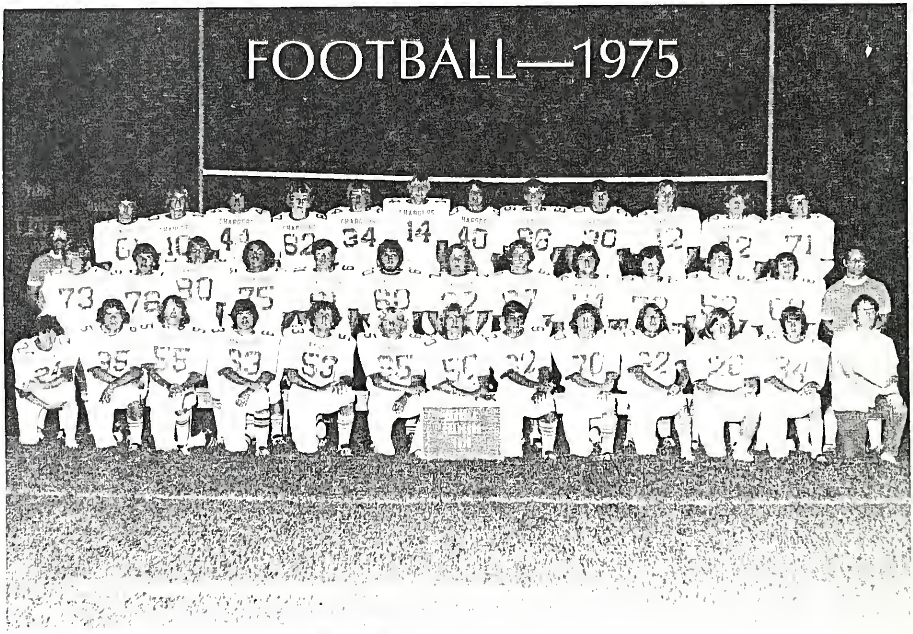
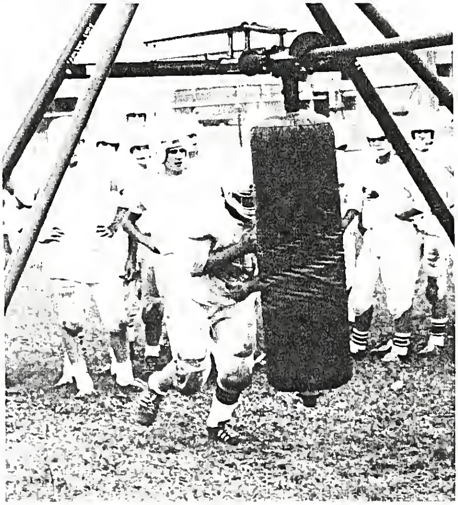
FOOTBALL—1975





Carroll football fans saw the rough, tough, but young football team finish its best season ever. Seven wins and three losses. According to Mr. McKinney it was a highly successful season and he is looking forward to next year. His goals are to go undefeated, win the ACAC title, and go on to play in the State double A play-offs.

The offense, a good mixture of passing and running, was led by Junior quarterback David Kruse and Carroll Junior backs Jeff Smith and Monte Diffendorfer. However, it is evident that without the stiff line of Gordon, Dincoff, Hackett, Martin, and Merriman, the running backs would not have been as productive.

On the defensive side the Chargers were outstanding by only allowing their opponents an average of eight points a game. Carroll's defensive end was led by Senior safety Michael Crawford, Senior defensive end Charles Schortgen, and Senior middle-line backer Robert Colcord.

Carroll football fans should prepare for next season. If the team plays like a team, CARROLL SHOULD WIN IT ALL!!!

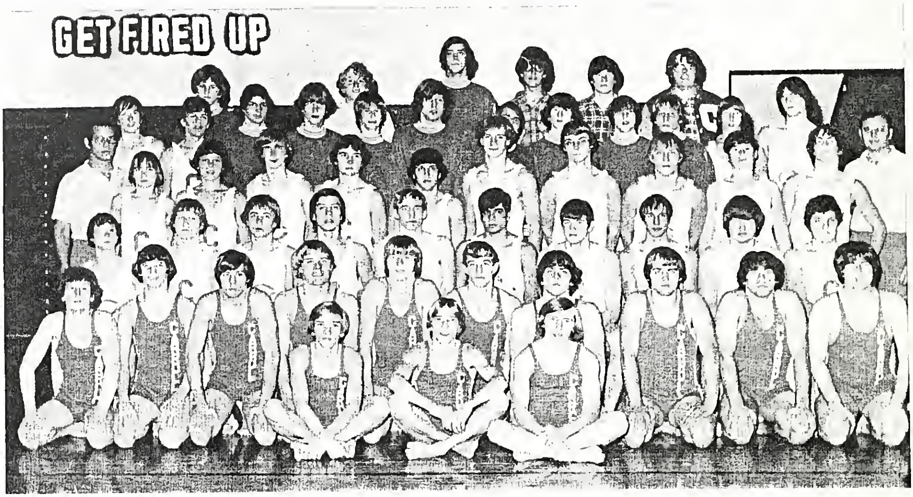
GET FIRED UP



The Wrestling Season could only be described as—fantastic. Coach Ed Fax and assistant Gene Merkle insisted that each member of the team extends his maximum effort and then go a step farther. Extend themselves they did. Undefeated during the season, Conference, Sectional, and Regional champions, the Chargers were the "class" of Northern Indiana.

MARCHING BAND

Under the direction of Luke Matthew, the band had another successful year. In the fall, the band marched its way through the football season, featuring, in one game, a spectacular Bicentennial Salute. The fans were pleased to see drum major Mike Coe in a brand new uniform along with four trumpets which were all purchased by the band parents.

Fall led to winter with the bandpersons providing entertainment for all home basketball games and also having their Winter Concert. Spring braught the musical and a "pit" band was formed to perform for "My Fair Lady."

During the annual Spring Concert and Art Show, the senior members of the band were honored with beautiful plaques for their devotion to the band. At the Bicentennial Fair the band also played and entertained all who came.

The band added a new audience for its performances this year. This spring, in addition to traveling to Huntertown and Arcola, it was asked to play at Perry Hill. All in all, it was another good year for the band and its great director, Luke Matthew.

Tireless Rutherford ready for 500 run

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — For Johnny Rutherford it's a chance to prove that he was cheated a year ago. For Bobby Unser, it's a chance to prove that he wasn't.

Last year, the Indianapolis 500-mile auto race became the Indianapolis 475 during the race and a crewman was killed by a truck racing to a rescue.

There's Tom Sneva, whom many race fans figured would never live through last year's race, when his car hit the wall and exploded. Amazingly he was only slightly burned in the wreck and is back as the outside starter in the front row.

winner. He's in good position to get it this year, starting in the middle of the second row between Al Unser and Pancho Carter, who has finished seventh and fourth in his two previous starts.

And there's the favorite of all of losers, Lloyd Ruby. He's been trying— failing— every year since 1960 in a

ACAC Pairings Today

By KERRY HUBARTT

There are some key games in the Allen County Athletic Conference this weekend, but the main item on the ACAC agenda this week is today's draw for the 53rd annual Allen County Basketball Tournament, which begins a week from tonight at the Memorial Coliseum.

The nine ACAC coaches and athletic directors were to meet at Hall's Gas House this afternoon to draw for opening round pairings. Norwell won the annual shootout last year when it was still a 10-team affair, then went on to win a share of the ACAC championship with Southern Wells.

next Wednesday, continues on Thursday, takes a night off Friday and finishes up with semi-finals and finals throughout the day Saturday.

Meanwhile, the ACAC coaches are struggling to keep their players (and maybe their own mind) on the business at hand, namely some very important conference games Friday night.

All four co-leaders (Southern Wells, Norwell, Leo and Adams Central) are all tied for the ACAC lead with 7-1 conference marks and are to play in separate games Friday night. The defending co-champ Bluffers, whose won eight straight games this while Norwell is home to Heritage (also 7-1). Leo will be looking for its sixth straight win at home against Carroll (1-3) while Adams Central plays at Eastside (2-4).

The only other Friday game has Churubusco looking for its second win of the year against visiting Hamilton. Only one game is slated for Saturday as Carroll hosts DeKalb.

Then its time for complete concentration on the County Tourney, and you can bet this year's will be as even a

Bus Tragedy 'Bad Dream,' Survivor Says

MARTINEZ, Calif. (AP) — "It was like a bad dream," said Perry Marin, who awoke from a nap inside a bus as it plunged from a highway ramp across the bay from San Francisco, killing 28 persons on a high school choir tour.

"All I can remember is waking up and seeing everything turning around and around and around," said Marin, who suffered only a sprained wrist and some cuts. "I held onto a seat so that I was hanging above a lot of other people."

Marin, an 18-year-old senior at Yuba City High School, was one of 24 survivors. His girl friend, 16-year-old Kris Huston, was among the dead. Eleven of the survivors were in critical condition and two were listed as guarded.

At the wheel, officials said, was Evar Prothero, 50, who had a record of two traffic convictions since 1970 — one for drunken driving and one for speeding. He was in semi-critical condition.

Just before noon, the 26-year-old chartered bus smashed through 30 feet of steel guardrail on a tightly curved highway exit ramp

Two persons were ejected from the bus when it landed 30 feet below. But most survivors had to wait while rescue workers cut their way through the wreckage and two cranes labored to right the vehicle.

The trip began in Yuba City an Sacramento. After a concert at a high school in nearby Orinda, the excursion was to have ended with a visit to Fisherman's Wharf across the bay in San Francisco.

In Yuba City, students wept in the halls of the high school and attended a memorial Mass at St. Isadore's Roman
